

January 22, 2001      Monday      9:00am

The board of county commissioners of Bourbon County met in open door session in the commission room of the courthouse. All commissioners were present. County Clerk, Joanne Long, and County Coordinator, Jim Harris, were also present.

Jim Harris discussed current road projects for the county with the board. He also mentioned that February 7, 2001, is Government Day in Topeka. Mr. Harris, Gary Houston and Terry Graham will attend.

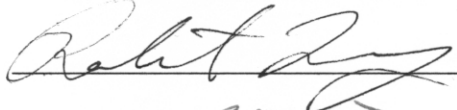

The fax line in the Register of Deeds office was discussed. It used to be the only fax line for the courthouse and all offices paid for its use. Now that nearly every office has its own private fax line, it was asked that it only be charged to the Register of Deeds office and the Treasurer's office, as they were the only offices to use it. The commissioners agreed and asked that the two offices work out an agreement.

Jim Bussone, Game Warden for the area from Kansas Department of Wildlife & Parks, stopped in to see the commissioners. No action.

Crystal Hathaway with the Friends of the Fort Scott Animal Shelter came to ask the commissioners if they could place a bulletin board of animals in the shelter in the lobby of the courthouse. The commissioners okayed the request.

After routine business, the meeting adjourned at 3:00pm.
