The Bourbon County Commission met in open session with all commissioners and the county clerk present.

Tim Cunningham and Bill Fiscus met with commissioners to present the 2010 Tri-Valley Budget request. They also discussed some services and upcoming events.

Bill Martin informed commissioners of an accident over the weekend involving one of the new patrol cars. He hit a deer but there was no personal injury. He will be getting three estimates for the insurance company.

Clyde Killion gave a road report. He said that Eddie Harrison had an accident the first week of the month on Tomahawk between 185th and 195th. He moved over for our mower and his truck and trailer went off a washed out culvert. He says it messed up the alignment on his truck and broke the jack on the tongue of trailer. Joanne Long will contact him to make an insurance claim.

Jack Black met with commissioners. He asked that the commissioners view the videos he has presented to them and to research the information afterwards.

Bills and payroll for the period were reviewed and approved.

Ralph Carlson met with commissioners to ask that the County waive the fees for C & D on a house he is assisting with for Katherine Yount. He helps poverty level families with improving their houses, similar to Habitat for Humanity. Jingles Endicott made a motion to waive the fees for the project. Terry Graham seconded the motion and all voted in favor.

Karen Paddock met with commissioners to discuss when the doors to the courthouse are opening in the morning. On two separate occasions, the jail has allowed people in just after 8:00 am, not waiting until 8:25 am. This is a security risk, because the District Court Clerk's Office is alone and doesn't have any support at that time. The bailiff comes in at 8:30. After discussion, the commissioners said they will speak with the Correctional Center and remind them not to open the doors early.
